TIGER

A powerful accent

We see a trend towards the use of 'soft' and more rounded shapes and the use of distinctive details to enrich the design of an article. Those details can consist of accents in different materials, colours or patterns.

These trends were the foundation of the design of our 2 new Platform ranges.

The Cooper range has a friendly round main shape in which stainless steel parts are combined with black accents. The two most important finishes in bathroom design also combine perfectly, the result a very powerful appearance.

A subtle accent

We see a trend towards to use of 'soft' and more rounded shapes and the use of distinctive details to enrich the design of an article. Those details can consist of accents in different materials, colours or patterns.

These trends were the foundation of the design of our 2 new Platform ranges.

In the Carv range a rounded square base and the powerful matt black colour underline the contemporary design. A very interesting detail is the pattern used on the cover. This subtle accent further strengthens the distinctive look and feel of this range.
